THE LATE MURDER CASE. - A reporter for Tom Hudgins, of Edenton, N. C., and lived with him until the war, when he went to Portsmouth and lived there until two years ago last Christmas, when he came to this city. He met the woman he lived with, but to whom he was never legally married, shortly after he came here, and lived with her until she died. She came from Maryland. He worked at the brick yard between here and Washington. He strenuously denies that he killed the woman, and says that she died either from eating too much fat bacon, or from suffocation, caused by enlarged tonsils. He never had had but one wife; she belonged to Wm. Smith, of N. C., and died the year before the war. The following is the evidence taken at the coroner's inquest, all the witnesses being colored:

Dinah Peters: Lives in the basement of Mr. Johnson's house, adjoining the room occupied by William Jackson and his wife; am a midwife by profession; have known Jackson since last spring; been living in Mr. Johnson's house since last October; Jackson is a tenant of mine; I waited on Mary Jackson in her sickness; she was taken sick two weeks since, February 3rd; the next day she gave birth to a male child, which is still living and healthy; night before last she exhibited a rambling manner; appeared to be out of her mind; she threw the bed clothing off of her; William Jackson told her to stop; he picked up a stick of wood and struck her on the top of the head; the stick was larger than a man's arm; the blow knocked her senseless; immediately after she had a hard fit and never spoke but once afterwards, when she said, "My head feels like a cannon shooting through it;" I told Jackson not to kill her, to let her die a fair death; he said she is in my way any how and I can't get her out: I'd rather she'd be gone than here: she lived about three hours after the blow; she died Friday morning about eight o'clock; I complained to Mr. Crocker about the abuse of the deceased by William Jackson, and he referred me to Mr. Johnson; when I mentioned it to Mr. Johnson be said he had nothing to do with the man; if he was disagreeable as a tenant he was our tenant, and we must get a warrant and remove him. The first remark made by Jackson after he found that his wife was dead was, "Weil she's gone, I shall not stay about here, I never stay any where where any of my wives die; 'don't let any of the ladies know that she is dead, meaning Mrs. Penn and Jett up stairs. He made no preparations for the deceased's funeral, saying he could not afford it. Caroline Coleman: I knew deceased and Wm. Jackson: have seen him beat her; saw him beat her last Thursday night with a stick of wood; she was in the bed trying to get up; she was ou her hands and knees when he struck her; after he hit her she never spoke that I heard; Jackson went out some time after he struck her and stayed out about a half an hour; buttoned the door and ordered no one to go in there; Mr. Cornelius Young, the constable. happened in and went into the room and found her dead; that was the first intimation of her death; then Lucy Johnson, who was nursing the baby in the next room, called; when Jackson returned he went into the room and asked who had been there; I said Mr. Young; Jackson asked if Young found her dead; I said he did; Jackson said she was not dead when I left.

Cornelius Young: Hearing that the woman was dying on my way to the house, I saw Wm. Jackson leaving the house: on arriving there I found the door fastened with a button; I opened the door and went in and found the woman dead on her bed with her face covered; a sheet was laid over her face; I told Lucy Johnson. who was in the next room, and came away.

Lucy Johnson: Have frequently seen Jack son slap his wife; was at their house last Thursday night; he tied her hands together in the bed; he struck her in the face with his fist; I saw him strike her with a piece of wood thicker than my arm; Aunt Dinah was in the room at the time; when he struck her she was trying to get up from the bed; she fell back on the pillow after she was struck; when she fell he said, "God damn you, I wish you were in hell, out of my way:" I remained in the room some time, and when I left he was still there; I remonstrated with him, but he said I had nothing to do with it: when he came out of the room he buttoned the door after him: I remained in the next room; Mr. Young came and asked Caroline Coleman if he could see Mrs. Jackson; she told her that Mr. Jackson had forbidben her to go in there; Mr. Young said that though it did at look right he would go in; he went in; pulled the cover off her face and said she was dead; that was the first I knew of her death; the blow was struck as near as I can tell about two o'clock Friday morning; when Jack-son returned he said. "Damn it, who has been here;" I said Mr. Young has been here; he went into the room and came out; he asked has Aunt Dinah come; he then went out and I saw no more of him that day.

MISSION CHAPEL.-The parties having in charge the building of the Mission Chapel have purchased a lot on Water street, east side, between King and Prince of Mr. Wm. Bayne for $420. It is understood that drawings are being prepared and that building will be commenced at once. The committee certainly deserve to be encouraged in this effort as there is hardly a part of entry in the United States without its Bethel for preaching to sailors; and they are also collecting the children along our wharves every Sunday evening, children, many of whom receive no other religious instruction. This school, under the name of the Corn Exchange Mission Sabbath School, was established about one year ago through the kindness of the organization from which its name is de rived, who offered the use of their rooms, and the school has continued to occupy them up to the present time. Upon moving into their new hall, the tables being arranged to be stationary, and thus preventing its use as a Sunday School, the members of the Corn Exchange proposed to furnish the means to rent or to aid in erecting a suitable building, and their proposition is now to be carried into effect.

THE HYDRAULION BIRTH NIGHT BALL.-The Hydraulion Steam Fire Engine Company, finding that the front of their engine house is likely to fall out from the same cause which rendered that of the Friendship dangerous, viz: the building on a wooden girder which is rotting away, have determined to take it out, and, in so doing, will rebuild on a different plan, better suited to the new apparatus now kept there. To raise funds, the ball is to be given on the night of the 22nd, and the mem bers expect such of our citizens as appreciate their services, which they think comprises a very large number, to purchase tickets, even if they are not ball going people. As it is thought, however, that some may be unwilling to con tribute in that way, owing to conscientious scruples as to appearing to sanction umusements which they disapprove, it is suggested that such may accomplish the same end by subscribing a dollar or more directly to the object. Such can hand their contributions either to Mr. J. H. Young, Engineer of the company, or to Messrs. Benjamin Barton, Richard L. Or to Messrs. Benjamin Barton, Richard II. I me, de. RIVER NEWS. - The ice is rapidly disappearing, and a few more days of such weather as that of to-day, or a wind from the North, will the Gazette called at the jail this morning and clear the river of it entirely. The steamers on had a talk with William Jackson, the colored man committed last Saturday for the murder of his wife. Jackson says he belonged to Col. lines boats will commence running during the next few days-on the Maryland ferry, probably to-morrow. A row boat carried passengers to and from the Maryland shore to-day-the steamer Virginia, belonging to that line, being engaged in transporting lumber to Fort Washington. The tug boat Comet passed by here yesterday evening with the schooner A. F. Kindberg and eight oyster boats in tow, for Washington. The schooners A.T. Skinner, Oliver Ames and Jeane Roseline left here this morning for Georgetown. Two steamers, the City of Washington and the Wawaset, were running on the Washington ferry line to-day, making hourly trips. As will be seen by ref erence to an advertisement in another column they will commence their trips at 7 o'clock to morrow morning and end them at 6 o'clock in the evening.

> HARBOR DEFENCES .- The report of General Humphrey, chief of the United States engineer corps, to the War Department, gives the following information concerning the harbor defences of the upper Potomac.

Fort Foote.—This work forms the inner line of defence of the channel of approach by water to Alexandria and the cities of Washington and Georgetown. The projects for its modification and the erection of an additional battery of the heaviest guns have been prepared, and arrangements made for the purchase of the site. An appropriation has been asked of Cougress, for the nex fiscal year, of $25,000,

Washington, and requires strengthening by the introduction of heavier guns. Plans for earthen barbette batteries immediately north and south of the main work, and for the modification of the existing water battery, have been prepared. An appropriation has also been asked for it, for the next fiscal year, of

SPECIAL NOTICES. FOUR MILLIONS OF INVALIDS .-At the lowest computation there are never less than four millions of invalids in the United States. Of this number probably more than three-fifths have neglected the ordinary precautions necessary for the preservation of health, and are suffering the punishment due to their carelessness. If the multitudes who are now afficient with his flicted with biliousness, indigestion, rheumatism. intermittent fever, irregularities of the bowels, general debility, nervous d'sorders, &c., bad, at the very first symptoms of indisposition, invigo-rated, regulated and purified their systems with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, two-thirds of them would at this moment be performing the active duties of life, unannoyed by any ailment of the body or the mina. This assertion is made advisedly. It is founded on experience, and is borne out by the testimony of a countless host of witnesses, whose attestations cover almost every variety of disease, and extend over a period of about twenty years. Of every thousand persons who take the Bitters, as a preventive of the complaints above enumerated, seven-eighths escape them entirely; and of every thousand who are actually attacked, and use the great Vegetable Tonic & a remedy, three-four hs are radically cured. These are not hap-hazard assertions, but statistical facts.— They are based upon the results of inquiries made by more than fifty thousand persons, in various parts of the country, and upon the letters of prominent citizens of every State, it might almost be said, of every county in the Union.
